Protect yourself against financial shortfall.

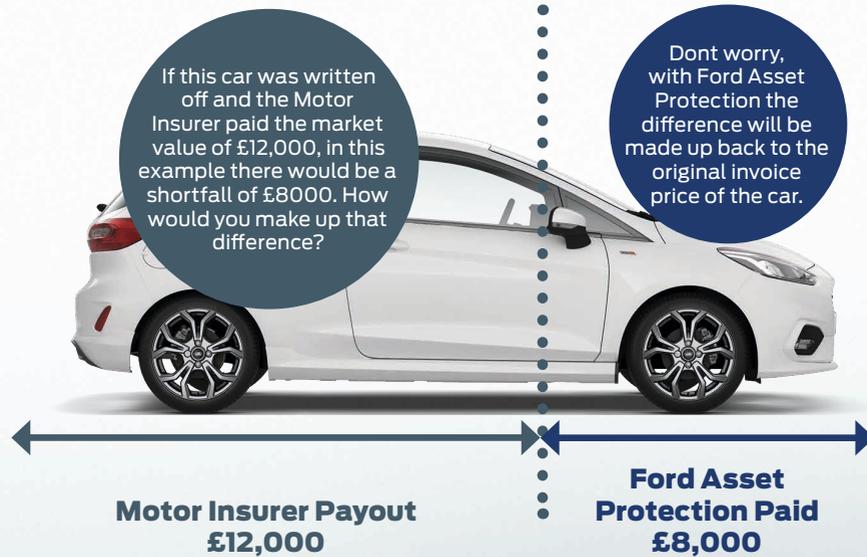

It's a sad fact of life that most cars depreciate in value over time. Usually, by the time it comes to change your car you've budgeted to cover the difference between what it's worth and the cost of your next car. But what if something happened that meant you had to change your car unexpectedly and hadn't planned for the cost?

If your car is written off or stolen, your Insurer will pay out what it's worth at the time of loss, which is likely to be a lot less than what you paid when you bought it. This means you're left with a shortfall between the amount your Insurer offers you and the amount you originally paid, which can often be thousands of pounds.

Instead of paying that difference through a loan, by dipping into savings or having to make do with a lesser quality car, Ford Asset Protection will cover this shortfall and help you to protect your investment.
